

CRLE Digest – Q1, 2018

Greetings to all our dear readers. We are delighted to welcome you to the second quarter of 2018. The first quarter has been interesting for us at the Christopher Kolade Centre for Research in Leadership and Ethics (CKRLE), as we set out on the activities we have lined up for 2018.

Following the receipt of a grant from the Society for the Advancement of Management Studies SAMS, we are currently accepting applications for a research workshop, which is targeted at early career researchers and PhD students and will run from the 14th - 16th May 2018 .

We remain resolute in our quest for new and innovative research collaborations, while we continue working on our on-going research activities.

More details about our activities can be found below.

IWD 2018: Ethics in the Workplace when Working with Women

As part of the celebration of women in the month of March and to mark this year's International Women's day (IWD), Radio One 103.5fm, one of Radio Nigeria's FM stations in Lagos organised a seminar tagged #WomenSummit3.0. The summit was organised by the producers of Women Affairs programme of the radio station. Women Affairs is a 45 minute live program, which airs every Thursday at 1pm. The show seeks to highlight issues that concern women and also celebrate their achievements. The summit was built around this year's IWD theme #Press for Progress. Ogechi Obiorah from CRLE was at the event to speak on Women and Ethics in the Workplace. The event held at the Citilodge Hotel, Lekki, and had a number of women leaders in attendance.

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS RESEARCH WORKSHOP 2018

The Christopher Kolade Centre for Research in Leadership and Ethics (CKCRLE) in collaboration with Society for the Advancement of Management Studies (UK) will be organising a 3-day workshop targeted at PhD students and early career researchers in management research in Nigeria. Plans are underway at the Centre to organise the workshop scheduled to run from the 14th -16th May 2018. The aim of the workshop is to deepen and strengthen management research capacity in Nigeria. Business- Cosmopolitan Responsibilities for Management

We are witnessing a world of multiple interlocking crises. Businesses are increasingly expected to solve these wicked problems instead of contributing to them. Society demands responsible business behaviour on a global scale. While we have a world economy, we do not have a world government; nor can we expect, at least in the foreseeable future, a system of global governance with sufficient sanctioning powers to enforce legal mandates for businesses and other organizations (including churches, NGOs etc.) worldwide. For this reason alone, the ethical dimension of business cannot be entrusted solely to the law. Deadline for submission to the special issue is May 31, 2018. Read more

International Conference with the aim to embed ethics more deeply into society through higher education institutions. Participants will benefit from resources for ethics education and exchange with colleagues and experts. Submission process and deadlines

1. All abstracts and concepts for the academic and workshop tracks and exhibition area must be submitted in Microsoft Word format (.doc or .docx).
2. For uniformity, please prepare the two-page document in single-space, 12 point, Times New Roman font.
3. Submissions are to be sent by email to conference2018@globethics.net
4. Deadline for submission is 30 April 2018. Read more
